

The world of knowledge takes a crazy turn when teachers themselves are taught to learn.

Bertolt Brecht

In the end, an organization is nothing more than the collective capacity of its people to create value.

Lou Gerstner, IBM

School personnel today are dealing with issues that were unthought of just a few years ago. Command, control, and compliance in the classroom or school administration no longer work the way they used to (if they ever did). Teachers and Administrators must be able to collaborate with each other, with students, with parents, and with others, adjust rapidly and creatively to change, and demonstrate genuine accountability at all levels of the educational world.

High Performance Education is 2_ days of learning that is applied to real school issues. You will acquire tools to help you lead day-to-day interactions that will substantially improve student performance, teacher satisfaction, and administrative efficiency and effectiveness. High Performance Education is for teachers, administrators, and anyone seeking to improve the impact of their leadership by learning how to get the most out of their interactions with others.
